Why Major in Judaic Studies?

Intellectual Sophistication

As a program and a major/minor that encourages interdisciplinary teaching and research, Judaic Studies courses are taught by scholars working at the cutting edge of their fields.

Academic Flexibility

The interdisciplinary nature of Judaic Studies means that you are encouraged to take courses in a diverse range of departments and disciplines, such as English, Political Science, History, Religious Studies, International Studies, and Geography. By specializing in Judaic Studies, you retain the opportunity to continue to explore different fields even as you advance toward your degree.

Individual Attention

Judaic Studies courses are typically small in size so you can be sure of receiving personal attention from your professors. Academic advising is done by the Director of the Program, Dr. Haim Shaked, who meets individually with all Judaic Studies majors and minors and is always available by appointment at 305-284-6882 or email: hshaked@miami.edu.

Study Abroad

The JUS Program is working to develop summer Study Abroad options as well as semester-long Study Abroad programs, in Israel and in several European countries.

Library Resources

For library assistance in Judaic Studies topics, please contact Ms. Kineret Ben-Knaan. For the Judaic Studies Research Guide please go to: <https://sp.library.miami.edu/subjects/JudaicStudies#tab-0>

THE PROGRAM

The George Feldenkreis Program in Judaic Studies is a broad, flexible, interdisciplinary program designed for undergraduates to gain an understanding of Jewish civilization and its diverse cultural experiences. The program, which is non-theological in orientation, is an academic exploration of the multi-faceted, socio-historical, 4,000-year record of the Jewish people. Courses taught and combined with the program courses highlight the variety of cultural, political, social, and religious experiences of Jews in different times and places.

The program is structured to provide an in-depth liberal arts education that will constitute a foundation for advanced academic study, professional careers in a variety of fields, and a more complex and rich understanding of the world. Judaic Studies courses meet distribution requirements for Humanities and Social Sciences in the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Engineering, the School of Communication, the School of Business, and the Frost School of Music.

JUDAIC STUDIES

JUS 301-D

Studies in Judaica: Political Geography of the Middle East

Combined with GEG 382/POL 389/INS 310

Instructor: Dr. Ira Sheskin

Section D: Tu/Th 11:45am-12:35pm***

This course provides students with an overall introduction to the modern Middle East from a geographic perspective. A significant emphasis is given to topics related to the politics of the Middle East. Other topics include physical geography, historical geography, demography, religion and ethnicity, urban geography, and natural resources (particularly the oil industry). A very important component of the course is the focus on recent political situations in Iraq, Syria, Iran, Yemen, and particularly between the Israelis and Palestinians. Thus, discussion of current events is part of the course.

The course also introduces some basic principles of political and human geography that are illustrated with Middle Eastern examples. The student should leave the course with a background which should contribute to an understanding of the problems and prospects of the Middle East.

JUS 301-TU

Studies in Judaica: Intro to the Old Testament

Combined with REL 111

Instructor: Dr. Lacy Crocker Papadakis

Section TU: Tu 6:00pm-8:45pm***

The history and literature of ancient Israel and early Judaism.

JUS 360-ST

Hollywood and Popular Culture: The American Jewish Experience

Combined with REL 334

Instructor: Dr. Henry Green

Section ST: Tu 4:30pm-7:10pm***

The course, Hollywood and Popular Culture, examines the American Jewish Experience through watching and reviewing films over the last 100 years. What do Jews bring to Hollywood and American popular culture and how does Hollywood shape the Jewish American experience? A selection of genres (dramas, comedies, musicals, crime, war, documentaries, and biographies) are examined to answer these questions. The course situates the films within the context of Hollywood culture---a complex industry in which ownership, production, distribution, marketing and sales are closely intertwined. The tensions between maintaining an ethnic identity and assimilating, affirming cultural pluralism and "melting", and sustaining religious tradition in the face of modernity are core features of the course.

JUS 401-01*Studies in Judaica: Biblical Hebrew*Combined with REL 401/CLA 402*Instructor: Dr. William Green*Section 01: Independent Study***

An independent study course in the basic elements of Biblical Hebrew.

JUS 401-FG*Studies in Judaica: Racism, Human Rights and Freedom of Religion: The Forgotten Exodus*Combined with REL 409*Instructor: Dr. Henry Green*Section FG: M 2:55pm-5:35pm***

The course, Hollywood and Popular Culture, examines the American Jewish Experience through watching and reviewing films over the last 100 years. What do Jews bring to Hollywood and American popular culture and how does Hollywood shape the Jewish American experience? A selection of genres (dramas, comedies, musicals, crime, war, documentaries, and biographies) are examined to answer these questions. The tensions between maintaining an ethnic identity and assimilating, affirming cultural pluralism, and sustaining religious tradition in the face of modernity are core features of the course. Each session will involve a brief overview after having watched the week's film on your own, pre-class.

JUS 401-JK*Studies in Judaica: Jerusalem and Israel in the Time of Jesus An Archaeological Odyssey*Combined with REL 505/MLS 625*Instructor: Dr. David Graf and Dr. William Green*Section JK: M 6:00pm-8:15pm***

This course will survey the increasing archaeological evidence from Galilee to Jerusalem during the time of Jesus. Emphasis is on the architectural remains, material culture, and inscriptions of the period that illuminate Jewish society and religion from the reign of Herod the Great until the Jewish Revolt (37 BCE to 70 CE).

JUS 401-QE69*Studies in Judaica: Persuasion, Propaganda, and Genocide*Combined with REL 406/COS 391*Instructor: Dr. Rula Jebreal and Dr. William Green*Section QE69: Tu 5:45pm-8:15pm***

This course will examine the ways in which governments create discourses that make it plausible for citizens to murder other citizens. It will review theories of persuasion and propaganda and explore both historical and contemporary cases of genocide. This will be a discussion-based course.

JUS 401-TU*Studies in Judaica: Religion, Artificial Intelligence, and Virtual Reality*Combined with REL 406/CIM 489*Instructor: Dr. Gilles Grinfeder and Dr. William Green*Section TU: Th 6:00pm-8:45pm***

Throughout human history, religion has been a significant factor in the formation of human community and the communication of prosocial values and practices. Digital culture has created new modes of communication--both aural and visual--that may affect and change how religion works and its impact on society. This course will examine the various impacts that emerging technologies have on religion's structure and practice in the contemporary world.

JUS 410-S*Special Topics: Politics of the Middle East*Combined with POL 387/INS 310*Instructor: Dr. Bradford McGuinn*Section S: Tu/Th 3:30pm-4:45

For the student of politics, the Middle East presents a series of problems in search of explanation. The relationships between religion and politics, tradition and modernity, centralization and fragmentation, sovereignty and dependence are uniquely fluid and contested in this vast area. It is the purpose of this course to engage these tensions with a focus upon the Middle East's mosaic of political actors and their ideational diversity. The course will examine region's traditions of political association, forms of institutional expression and governance.

JUS 410-R*Special Topics: U.S. Relations with the Middle East*Combined with INS 310/POL 348*Instructor: Dr. Bradford McGuinn*Section R: Tu/Th 2:00pm-3:15pm

This course examines the eventful relationship between the United States and the Middle East. So much at the center of America's role in the world, central to its domestic politics, the greater Middle East has a special claim to our attention. The course examines the bases of American foreign and security policy in the region, and then engages its complex evolution.
