

THE SUE AND LEONARD MILLER
CENTER FOR CONTEMPORARY JUDAIC STUDIES

THE GEORGE FELDENKREIS
PROGRAM IN JUDAIC STUDIES
COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES
UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

Co-sponsored with The Braman Miller Center: University of Miami Hillel

We invite you to attend an exclusive event featuring the award-winning speaker, author, and a New York Times columnist,

Bari Weiss

Wednesday, February 19, 2020 at 7:00 PM

Ms. Weiss is a writer and editor for the op-ed section of The New York Times. Vanity Fair recently called her the paper's "star opinion writer."

Through her columns and speeches, Bari has changed the way we think about important issues, including #MeToo, freedom of speech, and our common culture. Bari is a Pittsburgh native and her first book, How To Fight Anti-Semitism, was published by Crown in September 2019.

Before joining The Times, Bari was an opinion editor and an associate book review editor at The Wall Street Journal. For two years, Bari was a senior editor at Tablet, the online magazine of Jewish news, politics, and culture, where she edited the site's political and news coverage.

Bari is a regular commentator on television and radio, most especially on HBO's Real Time with Bill Maher.

In July 2018, Bari was awarded the Bastiat Journalism Prize for what the judges called "her brilliant, incisive journalism that defends the cornerstone of individual liberty and civil society: freedom of speech."
